Section C
Q.1 Explain the following lines with reference to the context in written form.
If you can keep your head when all about you Are losing theirs and blaming it on you; If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you, But make allowance for their doubting too; If you can wait and not be tired by waiting, Or, being lied about, don't deal in lies, Or, being hated, don't give way to hating, And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;
Q.2 Explain the following lines with reference to the context in written form.
If you can dream—and not make dreams your master; If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim; If you can meet with triumph and disaster And treat those two impostors just the same;

If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools, Or watch the things you gave your life to broken, And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;
Q.3 Explain the following lines with reference to the context in written form.	If you can make one heap of all your winnings And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss, And lose, and start again at your beginnings And never breathe a word about your loss; If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew To serve your turn long after they are gone, And so hold on when there is nothing in you Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on";
Q.4 Explain the following lines with reference to the context in written form.	If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue, Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch; If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you; If all men count with you, but none too much; If you can fill the unforgiving minute With sixty seconds' worth of distance run— Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it, And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

Q.3 Explain the following lines with reference to the context in written form.

Made to his mistress' eye a brow: Then a soldier,
Full of strange oaths, and bearded like the pard,
Jealous in honor, sudden and quick in quarrel,
Seeking the bubble reputation
Even in the cannon's mouth. And then the justice,

Q.4 Explain the following lines with reference to the context in written form.

In fair round belly with good capon lined,

With eyes severe and beard of formal cut,
Full of wise saws and modern instances;
And so he plays his part. The sixth age shifts
Into the lean and slippered pantaloon,

Q.5 Explain the following lines with reference to the context in written form.

With spectacles on nose and pouch on side;
His youthful hose, well saved, a world too wide
For his shrunk shank; and his big manly voice,
Turning again toward childish treble, pipes
And whistles in his sound. Last scene of all,

Q.6 Explain the following lines with reference to the context in written form.

PASSAGE

6. Read the following passage and answer the questions given below: 'Liberty does not descend upon a people; a people must raise themselves to it. It is a fruit that must be earned before it can be enjoyed. That freedom means freedom only from foreign domination is an outworn idea. It is not merely government that should be free but the people themselves who should be free: and no freedom has any real value for the common man or woman unless it also means freedom from want, freedom from disease, freedom from ignorance.' i) What is real freedom according to the writer? ii) How can we earn the fruit of freedom? iii) Identify the parts of speech of the following words: *domination. *outworn *liberty *earned iv) Identify the title of the text and writer.	2025 P.E. 6. Read the following passage and answer the questions given below: 'An autocratic system of coercion, in my opinion, soon degenerates. For force always attracts men of low morality, and I believed it to be an invariable rule that tyrants of genius are succeeded by scoundrels. For this reason, I have always been passionately opposed to systems such as we see in Italy and Russia today. The thing that has brought discredit upon the prevailing form of democracy in Europe today, is not to be laid to the door of the democratic idea as such, but to lack of stability on the part of the heads of government and to the impersonal character of the electoral system. I believe that in this respect the United States of America have found the right way. They have a responsible President who is elected for a sufficiently long period and has sufficient powers to be really	2025 S. G.
